Expression of Love

THIS KITCHEN REMODEL WAS PART OF A COUPLE'S new life together. In it they hoped to not only express their love for one another, but also their love for cooking and entertaining. This homeowner/interior designer teamed up with Denise Quade of Bella Domicile to get started. The existing English Tudor home set the stage for turning an ordinary-looking kitchen into a space that reflected the character of the home and depicted the antiquity of the surroundings.

The appliances were foremost in the design, with variety, flexibility and spaciousness a primary focus. The designer incorporated two Sub-Zero refrigerators, a 48-inch Wolf range and two dishwashers into the space. These helped to fulfill the homeowners' dream of creating an area that expresses sophistication and style and communicates the culinary abilities of the chef. The new design encompasses a complete living area, blending a functional, well-appointed kitchen with a carefully crafted butler pantry and a large open-hearth area.

By applying special techniques to the cabinetry and conducting a worldwide search to discover the perfect decorative onlays, Quade created the ideal Old-World European charm these homeowners desired. «

Tudor Beauty

NEWLY MARRIED AND READY to make their house a home, this Wisconsin couple had dreams to envelope their master bath in classic English Tudor character, charm and grace. The homeowners tapped the expertise of Bella Domicile designer Denise Quade for the total redo, which transformed the space from ordinary to extraordinary.

Quade's biggest challenge: The homeowners knew exactly how they wanted the room to look, so the designer had to translate their abstract ideas into a concrete creation. A passing glance at this haven is proof that Quade successfully accomplished the task.

Hand-carved onlays and intricate detailing sweep elegantly around the luxurious room; sumptuous medallion-encrusted mosaics mesh tastefully with the imported floor tile and stone countertop. A toilet room and bidet provide privacy, while a makeup counter under the window separates his and hers vanities. The homeowner also needed a spot to store her oversized jewelry chest and to showcase her extensive collection of decorative perfume bottles, so Quade made sure to set aside ample space for all the baubles and beads. The huge walk-in closet contains one additional perk: lots of room to stow plenty of shoes!

With its vibrant vintage style and delightful, personalized décor, this English Tudor-inspired master bath is an American masterpiece. «
